What Does It Cost

Every price is published. The fee is priced against the value of the change effort you require.

Where The Numbers Are

On the product pages in The Operator's WorkShop. Coaching, Mentoring, The Diagnostic, The One-On-One™ and the ThinkWorx™ Workshops carry their pricing there, in the open, before you talk to anyone. You read what the work costs at the same time you read what the work is.

Where There Is No Price Listed

Consulting, Concierge Offerings, Fractional Operations Leadership and speaking engagements start with a conversation. The change effort you require is unknown until the read happens — the depth of the constraint, how many units carry it, whether the work sits in your systems or in your capability, and how much of it you run yourself. You will know the number before you commit to anything. There is no package you have to buy.

What Costs You Nothing

The conversation. The assessment. Every document in the Knowledge Base, every Dictionary term, every Book-and-Fieldbook pair. None of it is gated and none of it is a sample. The only thing an engagement charges for is the read of your operation, because that is the only thing a document cannot do.

The prices: The Operator's WorkShop. Start the conversation: Let's Talk.
